WINS A GOLD MEDAL

Jimmy Anderson appears to have turned into quite a soccer player since joining the army and going overseas.

Last week his wife, resident at Blairmore, received a handsome gold medal from him which he had won playing soccer in England. He plays on a team in the Fourth Canadian division which had won a competition and Jim had also won the distinction of being the highest scorer on the team.

Mrs. Anderson is having the medal attached to a wristlet chain.

United Church Easter Services Well Attended

The Sunday Easter services at St. Paul's United church were well attended both morning and evening. In the morning considerable extra seating space was required.

A pleasing feature of the Easter morning service was the baptism of three young infants much of the same age, namely, Elenore Grace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel D'Amico, of Hillcrest, Rinaldo D'Amico, of Mrs. D'Amico's brother, of Hillcrest, Rinaldo D'Amico, and Mrs. D'Amico's sister, Mrs. Grace Aveland, of Bellevue, as sponsors; Cynthia Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Edwin Bond; and Margaret Mae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Maxwell Craig, of Sentinel. Following the infants' baptism, Ann Wright received baptism for adults. The session was pleased to welcome into the church membership three of the older Sunday school girls following the reception service for members, namely, Claire Lenore Dufour, Corinne Edie Fraser and Jo Ann Wright.

The senior choir provided special music at the morning service from the Sacred Cantata "From Olivet to Calvary." The largest number for some years remained to partake of the Sacrament of Holy Communion at the close of the service.

At the Sunday evening Easter service the junior choir sang very acceptably the anthem: "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth." The solo by Mrs. Hazel Thomas Jones was well rendered.

During the afternoon a baptismal service was conducted at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. Nielson when their granddaughter, Gertrude Carmen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sloan Douglas, received baptism with Mrs. T. Goldring and Mr. and Mrs. I. Nielson as witnesses; and the twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. George Francis Derbyshire, Jack Almqvist and Richard Almqvist, received the sacrament of baptism with Mr. and Mrs. I. Nielson and Mrs. Gladys Douglas as witnesses.

At the Sunday school session the smaller children looked in wonderment as the minister put his birthday money in the Sunday school birthday box. Apparently children are fast growing to feel that adults don't have birthdays. I wonder if the ladies could give us any light on the matter?

The Sunday school was looking forward to the visit of Miss

Coleman Leads Pass in Collections; Blairmore's Total $4,850 and Bellevue's $11,500

While Coleman's 3-day total of $14,850 for a quota of $125,000 allows room for much improvement it nevertheless is better than the totals reported from Blairmore and Bellevue this morning.

Bill Chappell, the Blairmore unit organizer, reports only $4,850 while Bellevue's Fred Turner reports a total of $11,500. Blairmore, as is obvious, has got away to a bad start but as the campaign progresses the aggressive canvassers will no doubt put the campaign over the top. Bellevue collected $5,000 both Monday and Tuesday but slipped back to $1500 in Wednesday's collections.

The local canvassers are trying out a new system this year. The town has been divided into zones and only the canvassers allotted to that zone can canvass it. As a result they are going from door to door taking the good subscriptions with the smaller ones instead of rushing helter skelter all over town as in past years endeavoring to get the cream before someone beat them to it.

The new system will result in collections mounting steadily instead of soaring the first week and then dragging badly towards the end of the campaign.

"Blackout" a Success

Coleman's first blackout, despite an east wind and low hanging clouds, was quite successful.

Many hundreds of citizens from other Pass towns joined with Colemanites in viewing the spectacle and hillside overlooking the downtown area were lined with spectators and parked cars.

Due to the low hanging clouds it was decided it would be too dangerous to bring in a plane to "attack" the town and thus the most attractive feature of the whole program was cancelled. However the fireworks, flares and smoke bombs coupled to give spectators a very effective idea of what the real thing would be like should an enemy plane coming swooping over Coleman dropping live bombs.

Citizens co-operated very well with the publicity committee and very few lights were to be noticed during the "blackout."

Thanks is expressed to those men who gave their time and services towards making the "blackout" a success and also to the businessmen who allowed their buildings to be used as "targets."

George Hope Died Saturday

Funeral to be Held Today; First (came to Coleman in 1913; Served on School Board.

The death occurred on Saturday, April 24, of a well known and respected former citizen of Coleman in the person of George Hope, aged about 70, at his Port Kells, B.C., home. The funeral is to be held today.

Born in Twideseley, Lancashire, England, he grew into manhood in the same town, learning his trade as an engineer and later marrying Miss Ellen Kippen.

He, along with Mrs. Hope and daughter Connie, came to Canada in 1910, settling at Lethbridge, where he worked as an engineer. He later moved to Burnis where he gained employment as an engineer and a year later, in 1913, he and his family came to Coleman, where he worked as engineer at International Coal Co.

In 1914 he left for Lethbridge, and during the war worked as an engineer for the British government, doing jobs at Liverpool and other English cities.

In 1920 he and his family came back to Coleman, where they resided till 1942. He again gained employment with the International company as an engineer and retired from this job in the spring of 1942. The family first took up residence on Sixth street and later purchased a residence on Second street.

In 1933 he was elected to the School Board, on which he served till 1938, one year of that time as chairman. He was also a member of the Oddfellows' lodge.

In June of 1942 he sold his residence and with Mrs. Hope, Mrs. VanDuzee (daughter) and husband and two grandsons, moved to a small fruit farm at Port Kells, B.C., where he had hoped to improve in health.

Surviving are his wife; daughter, Mrs. VanDuzee, and two grandsons. The funeral was to take place this afternoon at his B.C. home.

The sympathy of their many Coleman friends are extended to Mrs. Hope and daughter in their loss.

TOWN COUNCIL

SLIGHT SURPLUSES OF BEEF REPORTED AT SOME POINTS AND EXPORTS MAY BE RESUMED

Ottawa.—A brighter beef supply situation gave promise that beef cattle exports, halted for almost a year, might be resumed before long. Agriculture department reports indicated the run of cattle to market across the country had improved to the extent that slight surpluses were being reported at some points. This condition contrasted with recurring shortages at major markets last year and "no more than enough" in the early part of 1943.

It was expected that exports would not resume on a wide open basis even when they became possible. Following the shortages last year, the prices board authority took the position that domestic requirements should be met even while prices across the border made the export of cattle attractive to producers. A definite surplus condition in Canada would be one of the essential requirements of resumed export business, authorities said.

Indicative of the effectiveness of the export control were agriculture department records showing that from Jan. 1 to April 15 last year 67,756 beef cattle were exported to the United States. In the same period this year no beef cattle were exported.

Under a quota arrangement, the United States permits the entry of some 190,000 Canadian beef cattle each year. This quota remains in effect and officials said it was anticipated there would be no difficulty in obtaining United States markets for the surplus produced in Canada.

Enlarged cattle runs will mean no change in the meat rationing program to be made effective next month. Canadian food production is part of the United Nations pool to be drawn on by Allied nations as well as by Canadians themselves. Meat rationing, with a limit of about two pounds a person per week, will permit certain outside requirements to be met. The larger the Canadian production, the larger the contribution to the United Nations' food store.

NEW AIR RECORD

London.—A trans-Atlantic air record of 12 hours, 57 minutes has been established by a transport command plane flying from Canada. The time was four minutes better than the previous record, made a year ago.

BRITISH PRIME MINISTER TELLS OF DARK DAYS WHEN COUNTRY FACED THREAT OF INVASION

London.—Britain had less than 50 tanks and only "a couple of hundred field guns, some of them brought out of the museum," to face an invasion that did not come in 1940, Prime Minister Churchill told a private audience of coal miners and mine owners in a speech Dec. 10, 1942, it was disclosed recently.

Appealing for a stepped-up coal production, the prime minister told his audience in a review of Britain's darkest days that if Hitler had attempted to invade after Dunkirk "there would have been terrible shambles in this country because we had hardly a weapon."

"We had not at that time 50 tanks whereas we now have 10,000 or 12,000," he said.

"I sometimes have the feeling—in fact I have it very strongly—the feeling of some kind of interference," he said. "I want to stress that. I have the feeling that we had a guardian because we serve a great cause and that we shall have that guardian as long as we serve that cause faithfully."

"We have made mistakes," he went on. "We have made miscalculations. But we are being saved from the consequences of our shortcomings by the incomparably greater mistakes and blunders which these all-wise dictators have produced. Look at the mistake Hitler made in not trying invasion in 1940."

Hitler did try tentatively, Mr. Churchill said, but the R.A.F. broke up his plans by smashing a fleet of invasion craft assembled in the occupied channel ports.

Mr. Churchill said another Axis mistake was in attacking Pearl Harbor instead of Britain when she was already fighting Italy and Germany in Europe.

"It is most fortunate," Mr. Churchill said, "that, led away by their dark

SMALL INVESTORS

Three Million Needed To Ensure Success Of Victory Loan

Montreal.—Finance Minister Ilsley said three million Canadians in the lower income brackets must subscribe to the Fourth Victory Loan to ensure its success.

Addressing the Montreal Canadian Club, Mr. Ilsley said that $500,000,000 of the $1,100,000,000 objective is expected to be taken up by Canadians making $2,500 a year or less. The remaining $600,000,000 is to be looked after by corporations and wealthy subscribers.

Ilsley said that about 2,000,000 people subscribed to the Third Victory Loan. He suggested that in the coming campaign the objective should be to get those 2,000,000 subscribers to double their subscriptions and then to get a million more to subscribe.

TOTAL GIVEN

Last Year 26,780,573 Barrels Of Gasoline Used In Canada

Ottawa.—Total consumption of gasoline in Canada, including aviation gasoline, was 26,780,573 barrels in 1942, said a return tabled in the House of Commons by the munitions department in reply to a question by J. G. Diefenbaker (Prog. Con., Lake Centre).

In 1941 total consumption was 27,860,917 barrels and in 1940 25,208,022, the return said. It added it was not in the public interest that motor gasoline figures be released separately because consumption of aviation gasoline, a highly secret commodity, could then be readily computed.

ORDER CHANGED

British Officers Will Not Be Retired Because Of Age

London.—British officers in the future will not be removed from the army because of age, the war office has announced.

The decision reverses an order of February, 1942, automatically retiring officers more than 55 years of age.

Many officers previously retired through the age limit order have since returned to the army.

New York.—An American naval information officer said ship-based helicopters are being used in the Atlantic war against enemy U-boats.

Captain Leland Lovett, chief of the U.S. navy's public relations department, said the planes are being used to protect the 500-mile mid-Atlantic gap that cannot be covered by land-based aircraft.

Lovett said: "These machines will be the secret of success in the fight against the submarine."

The commodious and comfortable passenger space has been changed into twelve hospital wards, operating room, dispensary and the necessary equipment for the purpose of caring for the Canadian casualties being transferred from action zones to the Dominion.

WORK WELL DONE

Projects Constructed By P.F.R.A.

Prevents Damage From Floods. Regina.—Although the prairie provinces had the highest run-off of water this spring since 1927, there were no washouts of any consequence in the 20,000 large and small projects constructed under the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act and only slight damage was reported, according to announcement by George Spence, director.

The projects, all built by P.F.R.A. in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta since 1935, the year P.F.R.A. was established, include dams, dug-outs and dikes for utilizing floods.

This record speaks well for the efficiency of P.F.R.A. engineers and other employees who helped build the projects, said Mr. Spence.

HAS SAME NAME

U.S. Heavy Cruiser Canberra Called After Australian Ship

Quincy, Mass.—The heavy U.S. cruiser Canberra, named for an Australian cruiser which was lost last August and also for Australia's capital city, has been launched, becoming the first U.S. naval vessel to carry the name of a foreign city.

Lady Dixon, wife of Sir Owen Dixon, Australian minister to U.S., was the sponsor.

The new vessel was named for the H.M.A.S. Canberra which was completed in 1928 and was lost near Savoy island, off the coast of Guadalcanal in a naval action. The Canberra was hit and set afire by a Japanese force and sank soon after.

PROBLEMS TO BE STUDIED AT FOOD CONFERENCE CONSIDERED VERY IMPORTANT FOR CANADA

First Woman Consul

Canada's first woman consul in the foreign service is Miss K. Agnes McCloskey, (above), who has been appointed as assistant to Hugh D. Scully, head of the Dominion's new consulate-general in New York. Miss McCloskey has been with the department of external affairs since its infancy and is widely travelled.

Ottawa.—Western Canadian post-war economy and that of Canadian agriculture generally may be closely related with the result of the international food conference scheduled for May 19, government sources here suggested.

Indicative of the importance authorities here attach to the gathering is the extreme care being given to the selection of the Canadian delegates. The process of choosing them has been underway for almost a fortnight, and explanation suggested for the delay is that the government was "trying to arrange to release its leading grain and agricultural experts to attend the meetings."

The reason for Canada's extreme interest in the meeting is the preliminary outline of its agenda which the authorities here have received. The outstanding problem before the conference is that of post-war nutritional standards—of raising the standards of eating of whole nations which have lived heretofore on subsistence diets, and of organizing international agriculture to this end.

The task is one which the league of nations has mapped out before the war, but upon which virtually no start had been made. The U.S. conference, it was said, will prepare to extend and put into effect the league proposals.

The government here regards the problem as one of the most important for post-war Canada. It is recognized that at the present time Canadian agriculture's prosperity is based upon the extent to which it is feeding the peoples of the United Nations, and that substitute markets must be found at the end of the war for the produce thus being utilized, if a bad slump in prices is to be avoided.

The greatest hope of maintaining markets abroad, it is realized is to raise the standards of whole nations now living upon subsistence diets or a little better to the point at which they will create a hugely increased demand for meats and other cereals than rice.

LONG-RANGE PROGRAM FOR IMPROVING CANADA'S SYSTEM OF EDUCATION RECOMMENDED

Montreal.—A series of sweeping reforms for modernizing and improving Canada's educational system, involving an initial expenditure of more than $200,000,000 over present school budgets, has been recommended by a survey committee of the Canada and Newfoundland Education Association, it was announced here by Dr. F. Cyril James, principal of McGill University.

The long-range program, suggested for post-war implementation and so sweeping that it might take a quarter-century to develop, calls for reform in public school health services, administration, educational personnel, curricula, adult education, voluntary agencies and financial support. A survey of university education will be published later.

The committee, headed by Dr. W. F. Percival, Quebec director of Protestant education, made its review at the request of the federal cabinet's advisory committee on reconstruction, of which Dr. James is chairman. The advisory committee asked for a "Dominion-wide report on educational needs" and for recommendations to meet those needs.

Here are the salient recommendations:

1. An exhaustive survey should be made at once to ascertain the areas and schools in which health conditions are unsatisfactory.
2. Close co-operative relationships should be established between local school authorities and public health boards.
3. All schools should be provided with adequate medical, dental, nursing and immunization services.
4. As soon as possible after the war building programs should be undertaken to supply new buildings where necessary and enlarge and renovate those that need such attention.

5. The school leaving age for full-time attendance should be placed at 16 years, and part-time attendance should be required of pupils until the age of 18.

6. The salaries paid to teachers should be increased until the median salary throughout the Dominion becomes $1,321.

7. Universities, normal schools, technical schools, agricultural colleges and other institutions of higher learning should accept for admission students who have completed any provincial high school curriculum.

8. Five thousand special classes should be provided for exceptional children that all may have the opportunity to advance at their right pace. The cost would approximate $10,000,000.

9. A system of scholarships should be set up so that gifted children may continue their education. The immediate cost would be $3,000,000 per annum.

10. One hundred and fifty junior colleges or advanced secondary schools should be set up to care for students in centres where universities and other facilities for higher education are unavailable. The cost would approximate $4,500,000 per annum and a capital expenditure of $15,000,000.

11. Measures should be taken to free school board from capital expenditures so that their annual revenues may be devoted to the main item of teachers' salaries, equipment and maintenance. The committee felt this would solve "one of the most vexatious school problems."

12. School money should be obtained from all sources where the present-day wealth of the people is found and not only from levies on real property.

13. Present annual expenditures for education should be doubled.

14. In addition to the present yearly school expenditures of $146,822,642 throughout the Dominion, an additional annual expenditure of $144,000,000 and an additional capital sum of $59,260,000, a total of $206,060,000, should be obtained to finance the suggested reforms.

THE COLEMAN JOURNAL

Published Every Thursday at Coleman, Alberta. Membership in Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association and Alberta Div. C.W.N.A.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Refuse to Face Facts

One public organization in Ontario in publicizing the Fourth Victory Loan reduced its thinking to the following words, "It takes more than taxes to conquer the Axis." In that simple sentence is a very important truth; it does take more than taxes to maintain Canada's war effort, it requires the addition of huge Victory Loans.

It is remarkable the number of people who fail to realize this fact or refuse to acknowledge it despite the many attempts on the part of others to enlighten them. Time and time again local canvassers are confronted with the argument that "such and such an amount in taxes was taken off my statements during the past few months." Can not these people realize that workers from coast to coast are also having heavy deductions from their pay statements each month but still find ways and means of supporting Canada's Victory Loans.

Canada ranks fourth among the Allied nations as a producer of war munitions. Taxes alone did not bring her up to this exalted position, money from the Victory loans helped very materially. Canada must endeavor to increase production if the Allied Nations are to win this war in the shortest possible time. All persons who can possibly buy bonds should do so and not endeavor to escape responsibility to Canada, her armed forces and the tortured millions in Europe.

Cemeteries to Receive Attention

At the last meeting of the council a committee was authorized to survey the local cemeteries, discuss needed improvements and report back at the next meeting.

The cemeteries are the responsibility of the council and too long these properties have been ignored. It was reported that at one time the cemeteries were surveyed, sticks placed at the proper points and had persons being guided by these survey sticks the graves would have been laid out in neat rows. As it is however the sticks have either been taken out or ignored, some graves jut out one to two feet from the rows. In addition, boulders on the ground at the present time are car hazards, wild and withered grass is to be seen everywhere and there is not a proper parking lot in either cemetery.

Suggestions for major improvements have been asked by the council. Let's hope the appointed committee makes suggestions that will make the cemeteries the beauty spots they should be instead of allowing them to remain more or less in their present condition.

Flight Lieutenant Victor Mulhall, of Weyburn, Sask. (right), and Warant Officer Leonard Plishka, of Myman, Alta., discuss a theoretical route for the bombing of Hamburg. Actual route cannot be shown. Mulhall, formerly a constable on special duties with the R.C.M.P., is navigation leader of an R.A.F. squadron flying giant Stirling bombers. Plishka, who is of Ukrainian descent, left his studies at Normal school, Edmonton, to join the R.C.A.F. He was pitcher on the school's baseball team, and used to pitch to catcher Bill Klufas, of Radway, Alta., also of Ukrainian descent. Klufas is now a flight sergeant navigator with another R.A.F. GARDEN NOTES

Late Start

If for some reason one is only able to start a garden now, it is still not too late. In this case, however, one is advised to use already well started plants bought from the florist or market gardener.

The quickest way to start a garden, as anyone with experience knows, is to have a supply of well started plants, both of flowers and vegetables. These may either have been grown indoors in shallow boxes or purchased from seedmen or nurseries about this time of year. In an unusually early season, as this has proven to be in many sections of Canada, real gardening results can be obtained in an amazingly short time.

In flowers, these plants are just about ready to bloom when bought. Indeed some of them may have the odd bloom on them when still in the boxes. Experts, however, advise against leaving this bloom on at transplanting. It puts a strain on the plant and is apt to delay growth. Pinched off, the plant soon recovers from the shock of transplanting and will make stouter and larger growth. There is also a wide range of vegetables obtainable as started plants and in some cases, as with cabbage, cauliflower, celery, peppers, tomatoes, etc., this is about the only safe way for the amateur to handle. Panted from seed now these things would not have nearly enough time to reach maturity before fall. They should not be set out until all danger of frost is over.

Garden Enemies

Proper treatment, just as soon as the first pest damage shows, will win the battle. It is amazing the injury disease or insects can cause in a few days once they are well established. Available almost everywhere in Canada are cheap and effective commercial sprays and powders which will handle such pests as fungus, aphids, rust, wilt, cut worms, potato bugs, etc. In some cases these dusts or sprays are made of a combination of materials to cope with a variety of enemies. The sprays, of course, should be applied when the plants are dry and the dusts stick better when the plants are slightly moist with rain or dew.

Generally speaking, all plant enemies are divided into three types—fungus, that mildew or wilt the foliage; sucking insects which produce the same results; and the eating kinds which literally devour the foliage. Burning or drying sprays and dusts will handle the first two, while the "eaters" should be destroyed with a poison.

PUT TO GOOD USE

The Mobile Selling Centre in London received a homing pigeon with a request that it should be sold only on condition that it be turned over to the R.A.F. for the Pigeon Service. It was auctioned twice and realized the equivalent of $11.00.

Using Old Nails

Means Great Saving Of Steel For Purposes Of War. Making use of old nails saves steel for war purposes.

Amateur carpenters should try to turn in old nails that have no possible value aside from scrap. If when purchasing nails, the customer turned in an equal poundage of scrap metal to the voluntary salvage depots, one hundred thousand tons of metal would be made available for war production, according to officials of National Salvage Headquarters in Ottawa.

There has been an increase in the annual consumption of nails from 1,500,000 kegs in peace time to nearly 2,500,000 in wartime. This has been caused by the packing of war supplies in wooden cases, building of wartime houses, and the erection of temporary storage for Canada's great grain crop last year.

SMILE AWHILE

A Manchester furniture store which had received a severe shaking from Nazi bombs bore the following notice:

But you ought to see our Berlin branch.

Judge—"Have you anything to offer the court before sentence is passed on you?"

Prisoner—"No, judge. I had $10, but my lawyer took that."

The minister's wife was visiting a member of the congregation, and mentioned—with pardonable pride—that her daughter had won first prize in a musical recital.

"I know just how you feel," said her hostess sympathetically. "I remember how pleased we were when our pig got the blue ribbon at the fair."

"What's been doing this summer?"

"Not a thing."

"Who are you working for?"

"The vicar's wife, said to her husband, "I think it's about time we discussed our son's career."

"Yes, my dear," agreed the vicar, "the question has already been exercising me. I think I'll endeavor to find a position for him in the publishing business. I have a note from his tutor saying he already appears to be on terms of considerable intimacy with several prominent bookmakers."

Mother: "Darling, hand me an egg, please, from that box on the table."

Young four-year-old: (who had never seen brown-shelled eggs): "Oh, look, Mummy! Some of these eggs are white and some are whole wheat!"

The old sailor was relating his experiences of life on a desert island.

"Yes," said he, "I was alone and without shelter in a dreadful storm, but I managed to make up a good bed in a cave."

Listener: "How did you make your bed?"

Sailor: "Well—the rain came down in sheets, and after that there was a blanket of fog."

"Are you going to marry my sister?" asked little Laura.

"I don't really know yet," replied the man in uniform.

"Well, I do," confessed the helpful cherub, "and it's going to be a military wedding."

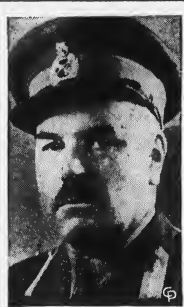

"Mary, my husband came home very late last night. Can you tell me what time it was?"

"Well, ma'am, I don't know exactly, but when I got up this morning the master's hat was swinging backwards and forwards on the hatstand."

"Well, here I am," announced the fashionable physician in his breezy way, "and now what do you think is the matter with you?"

"I hardly know, doctor," said the fashionable patient, "what is new?"

Interchangeable Terms

What British Empire May Be Called Does Not Matter

Prime Minister Mackenzie King, in reply to a question from Mr. Poultier informed the House of Commons that the terms, "British Empire" and "British Commonwealth" are "used interchangeably." This is in keeping with Prime Minister Churchill's expressed view—"British Empire, British Commonwealth, if you will, I accept either." It is what the British nations stand for that counts. They are united as never before in the fight for human liberty.—Montreal Gazette.

Permits Available

Giving Extra Sugar Tea And Coffee For Prisoner Of War Parcels

For some time now special permits have been available for Canadians sending sugar, tea and coffee, in personal parcels to next-of-kin who are prisoners of war. This is good news because it means that purchases of these goods do not cut into their own rations.

A form known as "Prisoners of War Purchase Permit" is being sent to all next-of-kin by the Department of National War Services. This form is made out in duplicate, one copy to be sent to the Ration Administrator of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board in Montreal, the other to be left with the merchant from whom the rationed commodity is purchased.

Postal Censors check each parcel to prisoners to make certain that articles purchased are sent along to the boys in the prison camps.

Quantities which may be sent in any personal parcel to a prisoner of war includes up to one pound of coffee, and a quarter of a pound of tea, and two pounds of sugar which may be made into hard candy.

"Charles!" She was breathless. "It's too beautiful. No, really you spoil me." She fingered the great pendant stone. "Will you put it on for me?"

He hesitated. Then his fingers just lightly trailed her skin as he clasped it together. She was trembling. "Maybe now in this moment he would take her in his arms, unloose the floodgates of his heart."

Finally he stood away and looked at her. "Do you know, you're a very beautiful woman." She didn't reply. "Margaret," he asked, "are you happy?"

"Why do you ask?" The moment was gone.

"I don't know. I wondered. Often, I've seen a look in your eyes as if you were thinking of someone." He added gently, "Isn't there something morbid in burying one's heart with the dead?"

There was a tinge of bitterness in her reply. "That's a strange thing for you to say." She went on with suppressed intensity. "Charles, I know you feel there really is someone and that some day you may find her. But doesn't it frighten you sometimes to know that the years are passing and that you may lose the capacity for happiness? You may have come so near her—perhaps on the street. You may even have met her. Charles, I know her. 'Charles, it might even be someone you know.' She touched his arm. 'Charles, it might even be me!'"

He drew back. It was as if she had desecrated something dear and beloved. "Margaret," he said in kindled wrath. "I don't know her."

Her mouth twisted. She began talking wildly. "Charles, I'd like a change, a rest. I'd like to travel—anywhere. It's been a strain, a strain. I'm just a little nobody you know. It's harder than I thought being the wife of Charles Rainier."

He was gazing at her in vague uneasiness. "You are over tired I think. Shall we talk about it in the morning?"

"In the morning," she said tensely. "Yes, Charles. Goodnight."

The door closed behind him. Her voice rose in a despairing whisper. "Smiley, Smiley."

Paula's trip to South America was planned and settled by the next afternoon. Several days later she was ready to leave. Smiley, along with his assistant Harrison, took her to the train.

She stood at the door of her railway carriage and said stiffly, "Is this place where you're staying in the country—on your way?"

"Not quite." The little vine covered cottage where she and Smiley had lived would house her once more and she would bid it a final adieu. "No, it's in Wickham, a quiet little village with a delightful old inn. I want to draw again. I was happy there once."

The train was ready to start. Harrison put the last piece of luggage in the vestibule. Now the train was moving slowly. Smiley walked alongside. "I wish you weren't leaving. It—it will seem strange not to talk things over with you." He kissed her cheek. "You'll let me hear from you?"

"Of course." Goodbye Charles. Goodbye.

Her voice came back faintly once more. Then she was gone. He stood there troubled and a bit frightened. He heard Harrison speaking to him. "We'd better start for the Melbridge Cable Works, sir. The telegram was urgent."

They picked up some papers at the office and immediately boarded the train. Once in Melbridge, the business at the Cable Works was straightforward. The men had been planning to strike unless their demands were met. However, Sir Charles Rainier settled the matter within minutes, not only by raising wages but shortening hours and bettering working conditions in general.

He was smiling vaguely as he left the place with Harrison. In the back of him, the cheers of the men still resounded. By the time they reached the village it was evening. There was still an air to train departure. They would see a bit of Melbridge. He and Harrison made for a small bar. Emerging into the fog a bit later Harrison discovered that they were out of cigarettes.

Smiley nodded briefly. "Well never mind there's a little tobacconist shop just around the corner." Harrison glanced at him in surprise.

They bought their cigarettes but as they came out Harrison asked, "I thought you told me you'd never been in Melbridge."

"I haven't." Smiley returned indifferently. "Then, all at once, he smiled. Strange. He had said, 'There's a little tobacconist shop just around the corner.' The shop was off the main street. He could have seen it on his way from the station. 'Harrison... I don't understand it...'"

Mists were swirling in his head. He could hear bells and whistles too. A sweat broke out on his forehead. He put a shaking hand to a railing.

"Harrison, let me think. That little shop—and there's a big place here on a hill... It has wide gates and a high wall all around it. Harrison was alarmed. "Sir, if you're ill..."

"No, no Harrison. I've got to trace it." He put his hands on his eyes. There were things, shapes at the back of his mind. "I was trying to get away from something... trying to escape. And there was a girl..." He started forward in excitement. "I—I loved her. We were married..." He seemed dazed. "Harrison, leave me now. I'm going up there on the hill to that building. There's something I want to know..."

Harrison stood there and watched him hurry off. Harrison was a good fellow and now he was terribly troubled. Poor Lady Rainier. What a blow this would be to her. She had said she would be at Wickham. He must seek her out... warn her.

It was early the next morning that he found her in the little vine covered cottage. She had been sitting at the piano softly fingering a melody, her eyes on the white mists of the hills. "Lady Rainier!" He rushed to her and warmly took her hands. "Oh I'm so glad I've found you."

Paula said softly, "Then he is here. What has happened?"

Harrison spoke almost wildly. "I think the world of him Lady Rainier, you know that but he doesn't realize what he's doing. Briefly, he explained the happenings after their visit to the tobacconist's. 'And it seems there was a woman and he married her. He says he must find it. It's all he seems to care about. It's got to be stopped. It could ruin him and it would be dreadful for you.'"

He'd thought over everything, his future, his ambitions, everything if he could find her." She turned and looked out of the window. "And Harrison, there he is. You must find the willow tree on the corner? He's coming past the church, walking through that little rambling garden."

Yes, it was Smiley, moving very slowly along the road. Paula could almost feel his heart beating. Now he had opened the gate. It creaked a little. He was coming up the path. With shaking hand he touched the knob of the door.

It opened and she stood there. "Smiley," she said over so softly. He faced her. "Paula..."

He was miserable. "I know. It's awful. I'm dreadfully sorry." All at once, she flung out her arms. "Oh no Harrison, it's wonderful. He'd throw over everything, his future, his ambitions, everything if he could find her." She turned and looked out of the window. "And Harrison, there he is. Reason There Are Fewer Women Now In Russian Army

Although recent communiques have singled out women snipers and women combat pilots in the Red Army, mentioning their fighting feats, it is difficult now for women to get combat duty in the Soviet forces.

During the first year of the war there were more women in the ranks than now. At that time, only physical fitness and a statement of voluntary service were sufficient to let them fight.

Now Red Army commanders are reluctant to accept them—although individuals manage to make their way to the front ranks.

Russia has no special branches for women, similar to the Auxiliaries in other countries.

Most women serving with the army are in the medical corps, not only in base hospitals but at front line evacuation points and even accompanying fighting squads on the battle front.

To Help Him NOW . . . and When He Comes Home

YOUR SON (or your neighbor's son) is in battle dress perhaps . . . on a ship at sea, or flying a bomber. You are proud of him, but you pray for the time when he will be back home. You will do anything you can, you say, . . . everything you can . . . to bring him home safe, and bring him home soon.

Well, here is one thing you can do. You can buy Victory Bonds.

When you buy Victory Bonds you help your boy to do the big job he is doing now. You help to make sure that he has everything he needs; better equipment than the enemy has. And you are saving money to have a better home for your boy to return to.

HAVE MONEY FOR HIM WHEN HE COMES HOME

He will want to work with new farm implements . . . new equipment . . . to replace things that may be worn out. He will have new ideas to improve the farm. He may want to experiment with new crops, new stock, new farming methods. He's young and ambitious as you want him to be.

He will need money to do things he plans to do. Victory Bonds . . . money saved now and loaned to Canada to help win the war . . . will be yours and his to use when the war is over.

WHAT IS A VICTORY BOND?

A VICTORY BOND is the promise of the Dominion of Canada to repay in cash the full face value of the Bond at the time stipulated, with half-yearly interest at the rate of 3% per annum until maturity. A Victory Bond is the safest investment in Canada. The entire resources of the Dominion stand behind it. Canada has been issuing bonds for 75 years, and has never failed to pay every dollar of principal and interest. A Victory Bond is an asset more readily converted into cash than any other security.
